SAN FRANCISCO, CA, July 30, 2025 – ODC, one of the largest and most active centers for dance in the West, has announced the details for its annual autumn fundraiser, Fall for Art, to take place at di Rosa Center for Contemporary Art in Napa Valley.

On Sunday, September 28, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., ODC will present a program including site-specific performances overlooking di Rosa's sculpture meadow, art installations and vineyards. The event also includes an al fresco lunch and auction. Proceeds from the auction support the creation of new choreography for ODC/Dance while underwriting the next generation of dancers in ODC's Youth & Teen Program.

"Even as the arts face unprecedented challenges, ODC remains a beacon of hope demonstrating the transformative power of dance," said Ross Uchimura, chair of the Fall for Art planning committee. "Music evokes emotion, and dance becomes the physical expression of that feeling – a complete heart, mind and body experience."

In addition to Uchimura, the Fall for Art committee includes Katie Colendich, Nancy Sakamoto DiSabato, Cecilia Fok and Rachael Goldberg. Fall for Art tickets start at $600. For more information and to make a reservation, visit odc.dance/fallforart.

ABOUT ODC

Founded in 1971 by Artistic Director Brenda Way, ODC is a groundbreaking contemporary arts institution: a world-class dance company (ODC/Dance), a theater with year-round presenting and mentorship programs (ODC Theater), a training school for dancers and movers of all levels (ODC School), and a fee-free, educational Healthy Dancers' Clinic. Known nationally for its entrepreneurial savvy and artistic innovation, ODC is unique for its holistic vision, now including a robust digital platform. With its home in San Francisco's Mission District, ODC makes a dynamic contribution to the Bay Area's vibrant dance and arts ecosystem, cultivating artists, inspiring audiences, engaging the community, and fostering diversity and inclusion through dance performance, training and mentorship.
